BEST PRACTICES

BEST PRACTICES I

1. Title of the Practice:

Paperless Office

2. Objectives of the Practice:

- To reduce paper usage and minimize the environmental impact
- To increase the efficiency and speed of data management
- To make access to the data anytime anywhere and security of data
- To reduce costs associated with paper-based operations
- To enhance the security of information.
- To save time spent on locating and retrieving physical files.
- To save costs spent on printing and storing documents

3. The Context:

Education institutions generate a large amount of paper as student records, academic reports, and other administrative documents. This can lead to a cluttered and disorganized work environment, making it difficult to manage data efficiently. The paper-based operations also increase the risk of data loss or theft and incur additional costs for printing, storage, and retrieval. The presence of printers in many places resulted in excessive recurring expenditure on paper, toner, power, and maintenance. To address these issues, the institution has adopted a paperless office approach, which involves implementing an RDS (Remote Desktop Service) that allows staff to access and manage data electronically. The work towards this practice can be seen for nearly a decade, only a few were practicing but it was successfully implemented at the time of COVID-19.

4. The Practice:

A paperless office is a workplace that has minimal paper-based processes and relies on digitized documents instead. Regardless, reducing the use of paper helps accelerate an institution's digital transformation journey. This typically involves transitioning to an electronic document managing system that digitizes files and stores them in a central repository. As educational institution produces a large amount of paper not in administration purpose but also in the format of academic purpose, implementing paperless practice in the office will be cost-effective and accessible at all time without wasting much energy.

To overcome these disadvantages and to get aligned with the Digital India move, the institution has introduced many ICT-enabled facilities. The internet and Wi-Fi facility have been centralized with OFC infrastructure with the support of high bandwidth internet service providers. This facility helped the organization to provide a centralized digital environment. Regardless, reducing the use of paper helps accelerate an organization's digital transformation journey. This typically involves transitioning to an electronic document managing system that digitizes files and stores them in a central repository. This will lead to safe and secure access to all digital resources provided by the institution. This will also lead to getting all the software systems and applications licensed and hence a legal digital environment.

To address these issues, education institutions are adopting a paperless office approach, which involves implementing an RDS that allows staff to access and manage data electronically. The RDS system can be accessed from any device with internet connectivity, enabling staff to work from any location in the campus. The RDS system also offers enhanced security features, such as secure login credentials and data encryption, to protect sensitive information. There are technical difficulties in implementing and maintenance of these practices. So to overcome these challenges, education institutions require adequate resources and support, including training and technical assistance to successfully implement the paperless office approach using the RDS system.

5. Evidence of Success:

- Significant reduction in paper usage and associated costs
- Increased efficiency and speed of data management
- Improved accessibility and security of data
- Positive feedback from staff and students on the ease of use and improved organization of the system
- Paper usage has been effectively reduced because of digital communication.
- Other colleges in the university have been inspired by this system and have adopted it.
- Networked printers effectively reduce the cost of maintenance, reduce power consumption, and also help in faster printing services.
- Strengthened document security and confidentiality
- Easy, faster, and accurate access to students' attendance.

6. Problems encountered and resources required:

- Technical difficulties in implementing and maintaining the RDS system
- Initial costs associated with the implementation and training of staff on the RDS system
- Ongoing costs for software updates, maintenance, and support.
- Transforming the mindset from manual and paper communication to digital communication.
- The problem with e-waste is when many printers are replaced by one networked printer.
- Minimizing the risk of data loss and maintaining document version control.
- Maintaining document version control

BEST PRACTICES II

1. Title of the Practice:

Mid-day Meal Scheme

2. Objectives of the Practice:

To provide a free meal to the students who are socially & economically from the poor sections in society.

To improve students' health and physical standards.

3. The Context:

With a view to enhancing enrolment, attendance, and retention and also improving the students' health by increasing nutrition levels among them this novel initiative was started in 1976 and funded by the college with the help of local contributors. This scheme's main goal is to provide the students who are socially & economically from the poor sections of society and also from remote villages of the Taluk. They spend most of their time traveling and are likely to start from their homes well in advance at early timings in the morning to reach the college on time. They have no time to prepare food for lunch and most of the time they attend classes in an empty stomach. These hurdles impact students' learning, attendance & results. Most importantly students are affected by nutrition deficiencies, hemoglobin, iodine, and other health issues. Students are provided with nutritious and balanced food which is a good combination of veggies & leaves.

4. The Practice:

Our college is recognized as the first one to initiate this mid-day meal scheme for students in the whole of Mangalore University in the year 1976. Every year the number of students coming under this scheme has drastically increased. So the college started the Mid-Day Meal Endowment Fixed Deposit (FD) in a bank. As the years passed by the contributors and the contribution increased.

However, when the number of student applicants increased for this Mid-Day Meal Scheme, it was decided to also provide subsidized meals to the students in addition to free meals for the poor and needy students on the basis of merit. Students are asked to fill out the google form to come under this scheme with the details. The selection of students is done through various levels. Every year, a committee is formed with a convener and members to select the deserving students for this facility. The Committee constituted for the purpose goes through the applications and asks the students to appear before the interview committee. Students are selected on the basis of poverty, merit, and the distance to the college to be commuted daily by the students.

The college has been giving this scheme in two ways so that a greater number of students are benefitted. Students who are economically backward and who come from far-off places are given free food all around the year. And the other type is half the amount paid by the students and the other half is given by the college. The amount is taken every year from the Mid-Day Meal Endowment Fixed Deposit amount interest. For this scheme, many locals and faculty of the institution are contributing from their pockets each year to this number of students. In 2022-23, 760 students came under this scheme.

5. Evidence of Success:

As students are spending significant time in college, their performance increased academically and it also reflects in their examinations. Attendance of the students increased notably. Students' learning ability improved with interaction and active involvement in academic activities in the college. Students' health and physical standards also improved considerably. The number of students who benefit from this scheme has considerably risen. In 1976, it was started with 252 students but in the current year 760 student's benefit from this scheme.

Problems encountered and resources required:

- Each year the number of students applying to the scheme is more but everyone can't be benefitted from this scheme due to lack of funds.
- Mid-day meal scheme is given only from Monday to Friday. Government holidays and half days are excluded from the scheme.
